In the community

Our commitment in the UK

Around the world, we apply our global corporate social responsibility strategy to the most relevant local concerns.

Here in the UK, our Born To Be programme is focused on education projects that prepare young people to be the workforce of tomorrow. Made for Good helps drives positive change in society by encouraging social and creative enterprise.

We want to build stronger and more inclusive communities too.

We do all of this together with like-minded partners. Our people add their skills and experience as well.
