

#NotAlone

#PositiveImpact

Loneliness, anxiety, depression — this pandemic is having a catastrophic effect on young people's mental health. They urgently need help, but organisations are underfunded and overwhelmed. That's why we're investing in charities that support youth mental health through access to advice, counselling, networks — even just someone who can tell them they will be OK. We want to help get the next generation through this, both for their health and for a healthy society.

Below is an overview of the charities and charity programmes Deutsche Bank is supporting around the world.
