

Deutsche Bank Awards for Creative Enterprises 2012
Celebrating 20 years

Passion to Perform

Programme

- 18:30 Welcome drinks
- 19:00 Awards ceremony

Welcome

Gregor Muir, Executive Director
Institute of Contemporary Arts

Keynote speakers

Colin Grassie, Chief Executive Officer, Deutsche Bank UK
and Member of the Group Executive Committee

Matt Smith, Managing Director, Education Group
Deutsche Bank Award in Music & Drama, 1997

Performance

Stewart French, Director, Draft
Deutsche Bank Award in Performance and Composition, 2007

Awards presented by

Kate Cavelle, Head of Corporate Citizenship UK, Deutsche Bank

- 20:00 Drinks reception continues
- 21:00 Event concludes

We would like to thank Gregor Muir, Executive Director, Institute of Contemporary Arts for hosting this event.

Deutsche Bank thanks the following previous Award winners for allowing us to showcase their works this evening:

Mina Aidoo, Maria Anastassiou, Drew Balch, Donna Barry, Peter Brewin, Glenn Boulter, Carla Busuttill, William Crawford, Julia Crew, Laura Crivellaro, Katie Cuddon, Chris Paul Daniels, Matthew Darbyshire, Jack Davies, Alicja Dobrucka, Zands Duggan, Hannah Dunster, Daniel Foshier-Smith, Rachel Fox, Stewart French, Natascha Frensch, Thomas Gardner, Patrick Gleeson, Katie Green, Lizzie Harrison, Lauren Hendry, Simon Hewitt-Jones, Reginald Hingston, Viviane Jaegar, Nica Junker, Omar Kashoura, Gereon Krebber, Simone Lia, Linsey Orr, Gail Macleod, Amy McDonough, Diana Matar, Daro Montag, Danielle Mourning, Ann Mulrooney, J. Paul Neeley, Andy Parker, Emma-Jayne Parkes, Jenni Parkinson, Libby Penn, Rachael Perrin, Tom Pope, Sarah Raffel, Kaveh Rahnama, Zhao Renhui, Kaz Robertson, Tom Saunderson, Matt Smith, Clare Strand, John Summers, Robert Szymanek, Sina Tantra, Anastasia Taylor-Lind, Steven Thorpe, Hermann Trebsche, Pablo Vidal, William Warren, Douglas White, Jonathan Woodward, Anna-Nicole Ziesche.

Anna-Nicole Ziesche, Deutsche Bank Award in Fashion Design, 2000, in partnership with the University of Arts London. Still from 'Unihorn/uniform', 2003, film

Winners

Robert Allen and Stephen Willey

Deutsche Bank Award in Music with the Birmingham Conservatoire at Birmingham City University

Robert and Stephen set up Etch, which composes and supplies quality bespoke music for films, TV, theatre, apps and computer games.

weareetch.com

Lauren Cookson

Deutsche Bank Award in Creative and Cultural Practice with the Birmingham Institute of Art and Design at Birmingham City University

Lauren is developing an artistic web blog which is curated as a virtual space. It presents the latest trends in fashion, travel, art and objects, using literature to add depth, experience and perspective. The blog will offer a platform for emerging artists and other creatives for representing innovation and culture.

artconnectsus.tumblr.com

Augusts Dakteris

Deutsche Bank Award in Circus with Circus Space

Augusts has developed Kinosenic, a family show performed in theatres that is complemented by school workshops combining aerial disciplines, juggling, tightwire and a range of custom-built digital and percussive music equipment.

Colin Oliphant

Deutsche Bank Award in Design with the Edinburgh College of Art

Colin partnered with Jennifer Argo to form Between Two Worlds, a concept brand that amalgamates fashion and fine art illustration to create temporary shop spaces for clients to view and buy collections.

between-ll-worlds.tumblr.com

Courtesy of Kinosenic

Gabriella DiTano's degree show 2012.

Photograph by Ellie Stephenson

Gabriella DiTano

Deutsche Bank Award in Creative Practice with The Glasgow School of Art

Gabriella has developed RISOTTO, a print and design studio that specialises in Risograph printing. RISOTTO will provide the creative community of Glasgow with an affordable and versatile one-stop print shop and design service. The Risograph produces rich spot colours that are ideal for graphic arts. It offers a similar effect to screen-printing, but with very fast duplication speeds at a fraction of the cost.

gabriellamarcella.com

Sion Alun Davies and Paapa Essiedu, Invertigo, rehearsing for Freefall, photograph by Héloïse Faure

Tim Bowie, Sion Alun Davies, Steffan Donnelly and Paapa Essiedu
Deutsche Bank Award in Music, Acting & Technical Theatre with the Guildhall School of Music & Drama

Invertigo takes the most exciting elements of audience interaction from sports and gameshows and then applies them to their innovative theatre productions. Invertigo is poised to introduce a familiar but forgotten form of theatre to audiences. invertigotheatre.co.uk

Claudia Grant and Loren O'Brien
Deutsche Bank Award in Dramatic Arts with LAMDA

Claudia and Loren are launching Misunderstood Productions. Their first venture is to produce 'Being Me', a humorous mockumentary based on a drama school. Being Me will follow a group of first year students to see them grow and interact together. The production will show how the different characters deal with the stresses and demands of drama school while all trying to achieve the same goal.

Photograph by Alan Dimmick, courtesy of Pio Abad

Photograph by Peter Edwards

Peter Edwards
Deutsche Bank Award in Architecture with the Liverpool School of Art and Design at Liverpool John Moores University

Peter's Urban Project RED BALLOON seeks to readdress the relationship between city and citizen by creating a series of temporary, nomadic installations, designed specifically for children. These installations of art, sculpture and pavilions are designed as children's playgrounds to encourage families to explore existing squares and forgotten spaces within Liverpool city centre.

Joel Tulley
Deutsche Bank Award in Contemporary Dance with the London Contemporary Dance School
Joel is developing the concept of 100 m.g, an upmarket, online couture fashion company that aims to break the mould by giving customers the opportunity to purchase rare, cutting-edge garments. 100 m.g will identify and support up and coming talent in the dance, theatre, film and music industries.

Pio Abad
Deutsche Bank Award in Fine Art with the Royal Academy of Arts
Pio's project Tele Nobela is an itinerant curatorial project based in London and Manila developed in partnership with Maria Taniguchi. Tele Nobela will commission exhibitions and run a parallel programme publishing essays to encourage a vibrant and more international arts community in the Philippines.

Catriona Price, photograph by Louise Bichan

Catriona Price

Deutsche Bank Award in Performance and Composition with the Royal Academy of Music
The fourth album by Catriona's band Twelfth Day is an innovative project designed to fuse folk music from different cultures across continents. Using traditional Scottish music, Twelfth Day will travel to the four corners of the world, sharing folk traditions with local musicians.

Lucy Tomlins

Deutsche Bank Award in Art with the Royal College of Art
In partnership with fellow student Sam Zealey, Lucy formed Pangaea Sculpture Central, the first sculpture-only studio complex in London that enable sculptors to realise technically ambitious works. Their aim is to serve as a dynamic resource and support facility for emerging, early- and mid-career artists and to create a thriving community of the next generation of leading contemporary sculptors in London.
lucytomlins.co.uk

Lasse Oiva and Amos Reid

Deutsche Bank Award in Design with the Royal College of Art
Velopresso combines old-tech with hi-tech, bicycles and coffee, using both their engineering skills and aesthetics. The result is an innovative pedal powered mobile coffee making machine for quality espresso and its derivatives. Velopresso has a compact footprint and near silent, low carbon, human-powered operation providing fine coffee. No electricity, no motors, no noise.
velopresso.cc

NoéMie Schwaller

Deutsche Bank Award in Fashion Design with the University of the Arts London
NoéMie created DASH Magazine, a biannual fashion print with a new concept of visual language and fashion imagery. DASH specialises in illustration, particularly in fashion art, to showcase international emerging talent on a global platform.
dashmagazine.net

Jordi Ruiz Cirera

Deutsche Bank Award in Photography with the University of the Arts London
Jordi is embarking on a project to create a long-term photo documentary focused on adverse environmental issues and concerns raised by the growth of genetically modified organisms. He will use methods taken from a traditional photo essay, to create a multimedia documentary and a web-based platform.
jordiruizcirera.com

Photograph by Jordi Ruiz Cirera

Runner-up

Alex Roth

Deutsche Bank Award in Performance and Composition with the Royal Academy of Music
Based on a set of ten ancient Sephardic songs released by his ten-piece electro-acoustic chamber ensemble Sefiroth, "Arboles Lloran por Lluvia" will integrate live music, immersive theatrical staging, contemporary dance, video projection and story-telling. Alex will produce and stage a seven-night run of performances at the Old Vic Tunnels underneath Waterloo station in June 2013.

Previous Award winners featured this evening

Donna Barry and Kaz Robertson

Deutsche Bank Award in Design & Applied Arts with the Edinburgh College of Art, 2002

Winning the award enabled Donna and Kaz to set up a diverse jewellery gallery and workshop within a gallery unit.

Due to developments the workshop is now part of Coburg House Studios. Working within this creative space has allowed them to grow professionally and exhibit both nationally and internationally, run jewellery workshops and participate in prestigious shows such as 'The Goldsmiths Fair' and 'Origin'.

Laura Crivellaro and Pablo Vidal

Deutsche Bank Award in Fashion Design with the University of the Arts London, 2011

Laura and Pablo are the founders of COR HABEO, an ethical luxury footwear brand that brings together natural beauty and empathic design with high-skilled Italian manufacturing to deliver a unique luxury product.

The brand's name literally translates from Latin as 'to have heart' and it is the origin of the word 'courage'. COR HABEO expresses in its name the spirit of the brand and represents the team's desire and determination to make fashion in a meaningful way.

corhabeo.com

© COR HABEO LTD

Square rings, resin by Kaz Robertson
Snowflake Brooch & earrings, Silver & 18ct gold
by Donna Barry

Alicja Dobrucka

Deutsche Bank Award in Photography with the University of the Arts London, 2010

Alicja is a fine art photographer whose portfolio is an intensely personal journey following the tragic death of her brother. Portraying loss symbolically through photography she also explores the politics behind the imagery she has created.

Alicja has shown her work in many high-profile exhibitions and venues such as the Barbican and the ICA in London, Kunst Raum Riehen Switzerland, The 54th Venice Biennale, and the Photographer's Gallery in London. Her current project 'Culture Translated' is a cross-cultural dialogue between the traditional forms of folk art and craft from different countries around the world.
alicjadobrucka.com

Culture Translated, 2012, Size 12 x 12", zardozi style embroidery, executed during the residency in Mumbai.
Photograph by Alicja Dobrucka

Stewart French

Deutsche Bank Award for Performance and Composition with the Royal Academy of Music, 2007

Guitarist Stewart French and Royal Academy of Music colleague Pedro Meireles originally won the Deutsche Bank Award to form Cordaphone Records, a service to help young classical musicians create recordings at the beginning of their careers. With this experience under his belt, Stewart soon formed Draft, a label dedicated to developing classical music recording and production techniques with a focus on new music collaborations.

Recently Stewart has completed two major collaborations with Tarik O'Regan, Novello and Harmonia Mundi USA, touring the USA and a series of performances at the Covent Garden Royal Opera House. Stewart will make his concerto debut with the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra this November and is currently planning the commissioning of a major new guitar concerto to be performed by the orchestra in 2016.

draftonline.co.uk

Stewart French, photograph by Luca Sage, 2010

Linsey Orr

Deutsche Bank Award in Design with the Edinburgh College of Art, 2011

Since winning the award last year, Linsey has established ORRCO, a surface pattern design brand offering a portfolio of bold, contrasting mix and match prints applied to one off pieces, through collaborative projects within the disciplines of fashion, jewellery and interiors.

This Autumn she is launching her first small fashion collection, which comprises a number of pieces that will be available off the peg, via the website and through small stockists. Alongside this ORRCO will provide a 'build your own' service, whereby the customer can pick a garment or object and match it with a print of their choosing from the ORRCO portfolio creating a unique one off piece.

orcco.co.uk

Jewellery and ORRCO print collaboration 2012. Jewellery designer Joanna Hill, photographs by Trisha Ward

Courtesy of Education Group

Matt Smith

Deutsche Bank Award in Music & Drama with the Guildhall School of Music & Drama, 1997

Matt's business idea was to create a music workshop for primary schools. To do this, he needed a car to transport his tuba around, which is where the award money came in. These workshops have developed into Education Group.

Education Group is now the UK's leading provider of music, dance, African drumming, science and art workshops to primary schools. To date, they have delivered their exciting school workshops to over 2 million children and continue to set the standards as the market leader. Education Group is launching in the US in 2013.

Daniel Foster-Smith and J. Paul Neeley

Deutsche Bank Award in Design with the Royal College of Art, 2011

YossarianLives! is a revolutionary metaphorical search engine that helps people generate new knowledge. The award helped the team to develop their early algorithms into working prototypes and form the company. Over the last year the team have been finalists at Seedcamp London, and winners of InnovationRCA Wave V selection and the ThinkingDigital Start-up competition. YossarianLives! has enjoyed great coverage in The Observer, the NewScientist, Wired Magazine and others.

In June 2012 the company entered into a development agreement with GettyImages, to give them access to their API and image library, enabling them to improve the image search experience
yossarianlives.com